16. Abstract

The general objective of this project was to determine the feasibility of and the general requirements for a centralized database on driver behavior and attitudes related to drunk driving and occupant restraints. Volume I assesses the extent of pertinent surveys carried out in recent years and examines alternative models for establishing a central database of such surveys. Volume II contains descriptive information about each of the surveys collected in the project, and Volume III is a compendium of question wordings from the surveys. The study concluded that it is feasible to establish a national computerized information system containing survey data on drunk driving and occupant restraints and that such a tool would be highly useful to practitioners and researchers.

17. Key Words: Database, Information Systems, Highway Safety, Driver Behavior, Drunk Driving, Occupant Restraints	18. Distribution Statement: This document is available to the U.S. public through the National Technical Information Service, Springfield, VA 22161

This appendix contains descriptive information about the surveys collected and analyzed during this project. One page is presented for each survey. The surveys are not to be comprehensive, but are believed to represent the spectrum of pertinent surveys. The descriptive information about each survey is taken primarily from the survey reports themselves and is, in many cases, incomplete. The information is abbreviated to save space, but the meanings of the abbreviations will be clear to persons with subject-matter knowledge. Abbreviations used frequently in the forms are:

RDD = Random Digit Dialing (telephone survey procedures)

HS = Household Selection (procedures to randomly select one respondent from among all those eligible in the contacted household)

MFQ = Male Female Quotas (procedures to attempt to obtain equal numbers of male and of female respondents)
