

management

B6

10:30 AM—12:00 PM

Remote Sensing

In March 2000, the U.S. Department of Transportation funded four university consortia to work on incorporating into transportation studies the use of remote sensing. One consortium was given the task of studying transportation flows. This session reports some of the activities of the National Consortium for Remote Sensing in Transportation-Flows (NCRST-F).

Gregory Jordan—Use of Remote Sensing to Evaluate and Measure Highway Traffic Flows

Delmar Anderson—Truck Traffic Analysis Using IKONOS Satellite Imagery

Mark McCord—Space and Air Based Remote Sensing of Transportation Flows: Promising Applications